Our Town

By J. B. White

A plan to bring electrification to rural homes in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee is proposed not by the government this time, but by the Arkansas Light and Power Company, headed by Harvey C. Couch, who suggests that the program can be paid for if each farm wife will add twenty or more good hens to the farm flock.

We are not familiar with the details of the Couch scheme and have no idea what they contain. The important part of the plan is that it evidences an intention on the part of the company to take care of the business of selling electricity in its territory and to extend its benefits to the farming people, where the need is so great.

This is the kind of a fight for big business to carry to government operation and a way to prevent the much-talked about "interference" with business. The main reason why government is doing many things today is the failure of private enterprise to do them. Electrification of rural America is one of the jobs that must be accomplished and if private companies cannot, or will not, do it, then the government must.

Mr. Couch would finance consumers in the purchase of a limited amount of electrical equipment, build transmission lines to their homes and let them pay for the whole in monthly payments. Moreover, to aid the farmers in making their payments he would encourage poultry and egg production. His experts figure that eggs from five good hens will pay for the lighting; those from two hens will run the iron; another pair will pay for the washing, the water pumping and the interest and so on! And to make it easier, farmers will be allowed to work on the transmission lines for the down-payment.

The average dollar on deposit in American banks and that means Cameron banks belongs to the individual. It is not always logical to say that the aggregate of wealth thus piled up should be available for any and every kind of loan. On the other hand a definite responsibility rests upon the banks to maintain within reach of legitimate demand all possible facilities for common credit. It is undeniable that during the depression, banks generally were impenetrable and this condition was due as much to the attitude of dollar owners as to the conservative banker.

Usually banks reflect the sentiment of depositors and dollar owners were as panicky as were bankers when the storms of depression hit the country after the 1929 crash. To liberalize the people and restore confidence has been the task of the new deal group at Washington. Whether the government will shake down finance and restore credit facilities remains to be seen. It appears rather a matter for revival of confidence and good feeling. After all, no matter what the condition, it lies fairly well within the power of the composite citizen to remedy.

There is enough money in Cameron to serve the commercial needs of all our people. Turned over fast enough, and passed from one citizen to another, there is enough to make all our people prosperous. Here again enters the vital factor of personal attitude. Dollar owners hold the key to the destiny of any community. Business men have been slow to popularize community consciousness by placing the index finger of logic on the spot where failure so often occurs.

Every time a dollar kisses the community good-bye it goes to help the prosperity of other sections. While some of our coin has to go, there are many occasions when the money could stay in Cameron with equal benefit to the spender and positive profit to the merchants here, who depend upon the local market for support.

No outside firm pays taxes in Cameron. They do not contribute to our charities, neither do they employ our unemployed. If the people

GRAND JURY MAKES STATEMENT HERE NO INDICTMENTS FOR LIQUOR LAW VIOLATION

Although the Grand Jury in its preliminary report to the District Judge, had established, after five days in session, that "certain places" in Milam county, selling liquor are running wide open, no bill of indictment was returned.

Instead, the Grand Jury "requested peace officers to more strictly enforce this law and all other laws." The jury was to reconvene on January 24th but due to the secretive deliberations no information could be had as to its course then. Whether the jury is waiting for officers to do what it thus far has failed to do, remains to be seen.

Governor Allred on Tuesday said that if and when local officers failed to enforce the laws, he would do so with full state authority. It was practically certain that the new governor would do nothing of the kind. Texas is a wide open state, according to the Senate Crime Committee and to dry up liquor would mean martial law in every Texas county, it was advanced.

Marble machines were condemned by the Grand Jury as a nuisance and teaching children to gamble. Bucket shops, raffles and the like, thus far are not mentioned. The attorney for the Senate Committee when quizzed about the inclusion of Milam county in the "crime column" said the report related to slot machines last October.

Considerable expressed opinion involved the early possibility of repeal of the Texas liquor laws. Governor Allred is pledged to submission. Some doubt whether the legislature will submit the question, but pending the disposition of the matter no definite policy is likely to be established in Texas.

The report of the Grand Jury is as follows:
To the Honorable Graham Gillis, Judge:

"The Grand Jury, for the above term of said court, beg to report that we have been in session five days and during said period of time we have examined 88 witnesses and during all of our deliberations we have found 15 true bills of indictment. 15 being of the grade of felony and none being of the grade of misdemeanor.

"This grand jury has worked as best it knows how to carry out the Judge's instruction to look into the condition of open and flagrant violations of gambling and liquor laws in Milam county, as indicated by the report of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

"We have had before us representative citizens suggested by the Judge and many others and in addition, we have had before us the attorney for said Senate Committee.

"Our findings, so far as any collusion between our officers and violators of the law, gives our peace officers a completely clean bill of health, as the attorney said they had no information of this kind in Milam county.

"With regard to gambling, the only information given us by the Committee's attorney had to do with slot machines and marble machines, back in October. We find that the slot machine condition has been pretty well taken care of.

"As to the marble machines, we consider them a nuisance and that they teach children to gamble. Any marble machine used to bet on is a violation of the law and should be abolished.

"In connection with the Judge's charge to the Grand Jury with regard to open and flagrant violation of the liquor laws, we find from various and reliable citizens that certain places selling liquor are running wide open. This condition was called to the attention of the peace officers of Milam county and these places named. And said peace officers are requested to more strictly enforce this law and all other laws.

"Upon the recommendation of a number of responsible citizens and all the constables, this Grand Jury recommends that the county prisoners be worked on the roads for the purpose of better enforcing the laws and preventing petty crime.

"It has come to the attention of the Grand Jury that operators of certain warehouses were buying products weighed by them, in violation of the law. This practice should be stopped.

"This Grand Jury has inspected the jail and found it to be in a dirty and unsanitary condition. This condition we don't consider the fault of any administration but rather of the long period of time since it was thoroughly cleaned and painted. We recommend a thorough cleaning, minor repairs and painting on the interior of the jail.

"We desire to thank the various Court Officials for the assistance given us through our deliberations and their courtesy in all matters.

Respectfully submitted,
J. D. BASKIN,
Foreman of the Grand Jury.
Attest:
Otto Kelm, Secretary.
January 11, 1935.

Green & Boedeker Celebrate Increase In Business Here

Passing along to their customers the major share of profits in a celebration sale this week Green & Boedeker department store leads out in making Cameron a better buying center.

This store is celebrating generous treatment from the buying public. Hundreds of customers made 1934 a great year for the big store and the store now proposes to make 1935 a greater year and in the beginning launches a sale of foods, hardware and feed that will be of great interest to all the people.

In this issue of The Herald will be found a half page advertisement quoting prices. The store has unloaded several cars of merchandise for this sale.

The store has extended its service to the farmers by laying in large quantities of feed, going into the feed business on a large scale to help farmers move out on their program for the year.

The store has five departments and all of them are teeming with rich bargains during this celebration sale. "The people have been good to us," said Leland Green, "and our business has met all expectations and its growth is due to patronage and we want to show our appreciation."

O. G. FOLLIS FOUND DEAD IN HOME HERE

O. G. Follis, 35, was found dead in bed at his home at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

The body was completely covered and near his head lay a 38 calibre pistol from which one shot had been fired. A bullet wound was found in his right temple and death according to Dr. A. S. Epperson, city health physician, was instantaneous.

Justice Womack Brashear held an inquest and rendered a verdict of suicide.

It was believed that Follis went to bed with the intention of taking his own life and covered his head to muffle the shot sound. A few minutes before he had left his service station recently sold him by Bill Alex Bonds. Mrs. Follis said that he complained about a headache and left the station.

Mrs. Follis remained at the station and closed for the night and with her child went home. Seeing her husband's body outlined under the cover and due to the warm night believed he did not need the cover. When she threw back the cover she found him dead.

Follis came to Cameron on January 1 from Houston. He purchased the Bonds Service Station from Bill Alex Bonds who was elected assessor and collector of taxes.

Investigation made by local officers failed to develop any motive for the act, it was said Thursday.

Follis was reared in Milam County, the son of George Follis at Briary.

Funeral services were to be held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock with interment in Powers Chapel cemetery near his old home at Briary. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Historic Wood In Lamp Presented To Ella Bess Haygood

Miss Ella Bess Haygood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Haygood of Cameron, was presented with a floor lamp Christmas made from cedar wood a century old.

The wood was first used in a floor in 1836 in a log house, placed there by her great, great grand father, the late Robert Henry who came to America from Ireland. He moved into the house in 1838.

Her grand mother was born in this house, and after she became grown and married the wooden floor was taken up and placed in another log house where her grand mother, Susie Seale, was born. Later she married J. W. Haygood.

At this time the same floor was moved into a lumber residence where later her father, J. W. Haygood of Cameron was born. This wood was used in the floor until 1932 when an uncle, W. B. Haygood of Benchley, Robertson county, made the lamp.

This timber was first cut from a piece of land that is now owned by Miss Ella Bess' grandmother.

The lamp is an electric fitted lamp that may be adjusted to suit the user. She prizes it for its historical value as well as its quaint design.

H. Reese, theft of hog; J. J. Daugherty, driving car while intoxicated; Newton McKinney, assault to murder; Henry White, burglary.

Marble Machines Held Legal; Court Gives Ruling

Marble machines have been held to be a game of skill and legal in Texas in a recent court decision.

Judge N. S. Kilgore of the district court in Knox county rendered the decision recently when the question was placed by litigation before his court. The case was reviewed in full in a recent issue of The Billboard.

The case is State of Texas Vs. Carl Favor No. 2293 and involves a test of whether these machines, now numerous in Cameron, may be operated in Texas.

The court not only holds them legal but the opinion is also agreed to by the district attorney. The grand jury in session here has made reference to them.

STOLE BABY'S BONNET
Montreal, Canada.—Police are hunting a thief who stole the bonnet from a baby in zero weather. The mother left her four months old daughter in her carriage and returned to find the child blue with cold because the thief had loosened the blankets.

LIFE IN THE ICE
Little America, Antarctica. — No less than two dozen separate species of mosses and lichens have been found on exposed peaks thrusting up through ice of great thickness by Paul Siple, member of the Byrd party. He also reports that thawing pools on the mountain side are teeming with microscopic life.

FLOOD CITY AREA
New York.—When a forty-eight inch water main burst, twenty million gallons of water flooded a twenty-block area, washed up side walks, and flooded cellars, putting out lights in many buildings, including several hospitals.

NO TREASURE
London.—The much exploited treasure of Cocos Island is exploded by Admiral B. M. Chambers, R. N., who declares that the mythical treasure "amounting to seven million pounds" never existed.

GASOLINE PAYS
New York.—Taxes levied by the Federal Government on gasoline in 1934 approximated 170 million dollars, and levies by the State governments were 560 million dollars, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

MOTHER!

don't experiment
with your Child's Cold

Robinson VICKS VAPORUB

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing", which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION

Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

SEEK TREASURE IN
SOUTH SEA ISLANDSGet Line on Peruvian Gold
Buried in 1849.

Papeete, Tahiti.—Despite the fact that no authentic trace has yet been found of the fabulous treasure reported buried in the South Sea Islands, plans have been completed for a search for the "king's ransom" which reputedly was taken from Peru in 1849 and subsequently hidden on the island of Penacki, Tuamotus, and the neighboring island of Hiti.

The background of the treasure hunt pieced together from various informants in the South seas is as follows:

Because of the political unrest in Peru in 1849 a number of extremely wealthy merchants and officials decided to convert their holdings into gold and remove the treasure to a place of safe-keeping, presumably Spain.

Crew Captures Ship.

The gold, in ingots, was supposedly placed on a schooner by five trustworthy representatives of the group, but the guards were allegedly thrown into the sea by the crew of the ship when they learned of the value of the cargo, and the course of the vessel changed to Australia.

After many days at sea, so the story goes, the ship arrived at Penacki, where part of the treasure was supposed to have been buried in the lagoon, and the remainder on the island of Hiti.

The schooner then cleared for Australia, landing at Port Darwin, where to avoid unpleasant inquiries the ship was destroyed by fire and the crew proceeded overland to Sydney. On this trip, it was said, several members of the crew were killed by aborigines. Years later while a patient in a hospital in Australia a member of the crew of the schooner was said to have told a man named Howe the story of the treasure and to have turned over to him the location charts. Howe acquired financial backing and proceeded to French Oceania to investigate. His quest was unsuccessful and he was eventually deported after difficulties with French authorities.

Treasure Located.

Haunted by the lure of the treasure, Howe many years afterward interested another man who in turn interested a group of four other Englishmen, who began operating in French Oceania early this year. This group claims to have located the treasure by means of soundings, though it has not actually been seen or touched.

The expedition is now awaiting the arrival of diving apparatus. Two of the members of the expedition are in Papeete and the others are on various missions.

Value of the asserted buried treasure has been placed in some quarters at the staggering sum of $70,000,000 in gold ingots, plus a chest of jewels of unknown value.

Two representatives of the French government accompanied the expedition in its preliminary search this year. It is reported here that the French government is to receive 50 per cent of any treasure recovered.

Italy Plans New Drive
in War on Tuberculosis

Rome.—Over 20,000,000 persons are insured against consumption in Italy, and 5,000 beds in special hospitals are set aside for the cure of such cases.

It is now announced that a new drive is to be put into effect this year and next, which will bring the number of hospital beds available for tuberculosis cases up to 20,000.

Fascist organizations here boast that nothing so ambitious has been attempted in any other country.

Fascism has engaged in a regular campaign to drive consumption out of the country, and the weapon chiefly relied on is the obligatory insurance system now in force for employees, workmen and servants of nearly all categories.

In fact, nearly 80 per cent of the cases offered state assistance in attacks from the disease were treated in special hospitals and sanatoria. When the disease has reached a certain stage of development removal of the patient becomes imperative according to the policy at present being followed by the Fascist doctors.

Massachusetts Family
Has Unexpected Guest

Newton, Mass.—The Mansfields had unexpected company that arrived at their door by automobile.

Mary F. McGlone, the visitor, who was driving her car for only the second time, with a companion, became confused, stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake, mistook John J. Mansfield's driveway for a street, drove over the front lawn, and ended her escapade by plowing through the front door into the reception hall. A pair of stairs stopped her, or, perhaps, she might have toured the house.

Lightning Leaves Freak
Trail Through Domicile

Groton, Conn.—Lightning left a freak trail through Ernest Blackington's home. Striking a tree, it dug a ditch to the porch, pushed a cart 15 feet, split the kitchen linoleum, then smashed a door casing, followed a water pipe to the sink, twisting the pipe near a faucet, tore a moulding on a screen door, knocked plaster from the ceiling, and left through the roof, displacing shingles and leaving two large holes.

AGENT'S OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED HERE SATURDAY

George Banzhaf, county agent, gives notice that his office will be closed on Saturday January 19 until 1 p. m. An examination for postmaster will be held there in the forenoon, he said. The examination will be for the Buckholts office, it is believed.

Lady Says She Took

Was Soon Relieved

Women who suffer as she did will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Maude Crafton, of Belleville, Ill., who writes: "For several years, I suffered from irregular trouble and cramping. There would be days when I would have to stay in bed. I would get so nervous, I was miserable. My aunt told me to try Cardui. She believed it would build me up, regulate me and help the nervous trouble. I knew after taking half a bottle of Cardui that I was better. I kept on taking Cardui and found it was doing me a world of good. I am in good health, which means a lot to me." Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. ## PAINT BUGLER AND THROW HIM IN POOL

His Reveille Call Resented by Fellow Workers.

Chicago.—Robert J. Vanasek does not like to be painted green.

As a matter of fact, he has a prejudice against being painted blue or any other color; but green was the hue over which he brooded as he sat in his bunk sponging himself off with a turpentine-soaked cloth.

Mr. Vanasek has the misfortune to be bugler of the 607th company of the Civilian Conservation corps, encamped near Haras road and Glenview road.

Early one evening Mr. Vanasek was strolling about the camp, thinking what a great thing outdoor life can be. Being painted green never entered his head.

He did not know that a dozen or so members of company 607 were bitter against him; that they were thinking about the "Ta-ta-ta-ta" of his bugle waking them up from sound sleeps.

Consequently it was a great surprise to Mr. Vanasek when, on the outskirts of the camp, a number of ill-mannered CCCers laid violent hands upon him and dragged him away into the woods.

Despite Mr. Vanasek's plaintive cries he was stripped of his clothing, with the exception of his shoes and socks. The most artistic of his captors then wielded brushes saturated in green paint.

Presently Mr. Vanasek was a sight to behold. He did not admire his new paint job and did not even want to be discolored.

So the CCC boys threw him into a nearby pond and went away.

"Ungrateful" about summed up their attitude.

But Mr. Vanasek had recognized a good many of his assailants and reported to his commanding officer. The result was that eight of the CCC workers languished in the jail house of the county highway police at Morton Grove.

Officials of the camp opined that no charges would be pressed, but that the culprits would be discharged and sent home.

Meanwhile Mr. Vanasek wielded his turpentine cloth.

Marries Nurse After 27 Years on Prison Island

Paris.—A simple marriage ceremony attended only by a limited few will be held shortly, probably in Paris, and will mark the first light lost by the world's most hated prison island for the conquest of a man's soul.

The bridegroom, it was learned today, will be Benjamin Ullmo, who spent almost fifteen years in isolation on a tiny, dreary convict island off the coast of French Guiana, and then a dozen more years condemned to the mainland of the prison colony.

The bride will be Miss Madeleine Poirier, who is a private nurse and who 12 years ago became interested in Ullmo's tragic fate. She started a correspondence which inspired him to fight the jungle heat and loneliness, and which finally in the nearest future is to lead to the altar.

"The past is forgotten; I'm going to work now," were Ullmo's simple words on his arrival back in Paris. Ullmo was sentenced to French Guiana as a traitor. In actual fact he was not suspected of dealing with any foreign country, but simply of trying to black mail the French navy into paying a high price for its code book which he had stolen.

He was doing it, he said, for a beautiful woman named Lison Welch who threatened to quit him unless he obtained more money.

Passenger Pigeons Extinct

About a century ago, billions of passenger pigeons flew about this country, darkening the sky for hours at a time. Flocks were sometimes four miles wide and nearly 250 miles long and the consumption of grain by such congregations was estimated to have been 17,000,000 bushels every 24 hours. Today they are extinct, the last one having died, it is believed, in the zoological garden of Cincinnati in 1914.—Collier's Weekly.

Danger From Lightsocket

Contrary to the general impression, a person can be electrocuted by the 110 volts of electricity in a light socket, particularly when his other hand is on a radiator or some other good "ground," writes Dr. S. R. Benedict, Birmingham, Ala., in Collier's Weekly. There have been thousands of such deaths. In fact current as low as 54 volts has been known to kill a human being.

Rub on VICKS VAPORUB

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing", which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION

Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

SEEK TREASURE IN
SOUTH SEA ISLANDSGet Line on Peruvian Gold
Buried in 1849.

Papeete, Tahiti.—Despite the fact that no authentic trace has yet been found of the fabulous treasure reported buried in the South Sea Islands, plans have been completed for a search for the "king's ransom" which reputedly was taken from Peru in 1849 and subsequently hidden on the island of Penacri, Tuamotus, and the neighboring island of Hiti.

The background of the treasure hunt pieced together from various informants in the South seas is as follows:

Because of the political unrest in Peru in 1849 a number of extremely wealthy merchants and officials decided to convert their holdings into gold and remove the treasure to a place of safe-keeping, presumably Spain.

Crew Captures Ship.

The gold, in ingots, was supposedly placed on a schooner by five trustworthy representatives of the group, but the guards were allegedly thrown into the sea by the crew of the ship when they learned of the value of the cargo, and the course of the vessel changed to Australia.

After many days at sea, so the story goes, the ship arrived at Penacri, where part of the treasure was supposed to have been buried in the lagoon, and the remainder on the island of Hiti.

The schooner then cleared for Australia, landing at Port Darwin, where to avoid unpleasant inquiries the ship was destroyed by fire and the crew proceeded overland to Sydney. On this trip, it was said, several members of the crew were killed by aborigines.

Years later while a patient in a hospital in Australia a member of the crew of the schooner was said to have told a man named Howe the story of the treasure and to have turned over to him the location charts. Howe acquired financial backing and proceeded to French Oceania to investigate. His quest was unsuccessful and he was eventually deported after difficulties with French authorities.

Treasure Located.

Haunted by the lure of the treasure, Howe many years afterward interested another man who in turn interested a group of four other Englishmen, who began operating in French Oceania early this year. This group claims to have located the treasure by means of soundings, though it has not actually been seen or touched.

The expedition is now awaiting the arrival of diving apparatus. Two of the members of the expedition are in Papeete and the others are on various missions.

Value of the asserted buried treasure has been placed in some quarters at the staggering sum of $70,000,000 in gold ingots, plus a chest of jewels of unknown value.

Two representatives of the French government accompanied the expedition in its preliminary search this year. It is reported here that the French government is to receive 50 per cent of any treasure recovered.

Italy Plans New Drive
in War on Tuberculosis

Rome.—Over 20,000,000 persons are insured against consumption in Italy, and 5,000 beds in special hospitals are set aside for the cure of such cases.

It is now announced that a new drive is to be put into effect this year and next, which will bring the number of hospital beds available for tuberculosis cases up to 20,000.

Fascist organizations here boast that nothing so ambitious has been attempted in any other country.

Fascism has engaged in a regular campaign to drive consumption out of the country, and the weapon chiefly relied on is the obligatory insurance system now in force for employees, workmen and servants of nearly all categories.

In fact, nearly 80 per cent of the cases offered state assistance in attacks from the disease were treated in special hospitals and sanatoria. When the disease has reached a certain stage of development removal of the patient becomes imperative according to the policy at present being followed by the Fascist doctors.

Massachusetts Family
Has Unexpected Guest

Newton, Mass.—The Mansfields had unexpected company that arrived at their door by automobile.

Mary F. McGlone, the visitor, who was driving her car for only the second time, with a companion, became confused, stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake, mistook John J. Mansfield's driveway for a street, drove over the front lawn, and ended her escapade by plowing through the front door into the reception hall. A pair of stairs stopped her, or, perhaps, she might have toured the house.

Lightning Leaves Freak
Trail Through Domicile

Groton, Conn.—Lightning left a freak trail through Ernest Blackington's home. Striking a tree, it dug a ditch to the porch, pushed a cart 15 feet, split the kitchen linoleum, then smashed a door casing, followed a water pipe to the sink, twisting the pipe near a faucet, tore a moulding on a screen door, knocked plaster from the ceiling, and left through the roof, displacing shingles and leaving two large holes.

Marries Nurse After 27 Years on Prison Island

Paris.—A simple marriage ceremony attended only by a limited few will be held shortly, probably in Paris, and will mark the first light lost by the world's most hated prison island for the conquest of a man's soul.

The bridegroom, it was learned to day, will be Benjamin Ulmo, who spent almost fifteen years in isolation on a tiny, dreary convict island off the coast of French Guiana, and then a dozen more years condemned to the mainland of the prison colony.

The bride will be Miss Madeleine Poirier, who is a private nurse and who 12 years ago became interested in Ulmo's tragic fate. She started a correspondence which inspired him to fight the jungle heat and loneliness, and which finally in the nearest future is to lead to the altar.

"The past is forgotten; I'm going to work now," were Ulmo's simple words on his arrival back in Paris. Ulmo was sentenced to French Guiana as a traitor. In actual fact he was not suspected of dealing with any foreign country, but simply of trying to black mail the French navy into paying a high price for its code book which he had stolen.

He was doing it, he said, for a beautiful woman named Lison Welch who threatened to quit him unless he obtained more money.

Passenger Pigeons Extinct

About a century ago, billions of passenger pigeons flew about this country, darkening the sky for hours at a time. Flocks were sometimes four miles wide and nearly 250 miles long and the consumption of grain by such congregations was estimated to have been 17,000,000 bushels every 24 hours. Today they are extinct, the last one having died, it is believed, in the zoological garden of Cincinnati in 1914.—Collier's Weekly.

Danger From Lightsocket

Contrary to the general impression, a person can be electrocuted by the 110 volts of electricity in a light socket, particularly when his other hand is on a radiator or some other good "ground," writes Dr. S. R. Benedict, Birmingham, Ala., in Collier's Weekly. There have been thousands of such deaths. In fact current as low as 54 volts has been known to kill a human being.

Louisa's Letter

OLD MEN PAY FOR EARLY PHILANDERING

Dear Louisa:

I am a woman in the fifties. I married a charming man and thought that both of us had the greatest affection and loyalty for each other. I soon found out, however, that my husband was a philander and every pretty face or figure beckoned him away. I tried to ignore his flirtations and cheap little affairs but the humiliations and heart break of it all was becoming too much for me.

I finally realized that the only solution was to stop loving him so much. This sounded hard to do but it really was not as difficult as I expected it to be. I'd just say to myself, "He is not the fine, loyal fellow I thought I was marrying. His love is not worth a great deal if he is willing to embarrass and hurt me for the sake of a casual thrill." You see, he really never fell desperately in love with anyone else—I think I could have excused that—but he just chaperoned our whole relationship with his infidelity.

During the last few years he has wearied of thrill seeking and has tried to reestablish our marriage on its old basis. He tells me that he has never really loved anyone but me, etc., but as far as I am concerned the first love I gave him is dead—dead than dead and can never be revived. I am friendly and try to be companionable, but the deep love and trust I had for him are gone forever. I have other interests and friends who mean more to me than he does.

Don't you think he has lost more than I have? Instead of pitying me—I live a very full, interesting life—people would best pity this lonely old man who has thrown away a relationship which might have been full of understanding and love to the end of life for a series of cheap thrills.

DISILLUSIONED.

Answer: There is not much to answer in this letter, as it tells its own story. I think that "Disillusioned" has lost a great deal as well as her husband. She probably took the best way out of a difficult situation. I dare say there are thousands of old men who feel that they are paying dearly for their side-stepping. This one is fortunate not to have been divorced and remarried to some young wife who would probably have reversed the situation and done a little thrill hunting of her own accord.

Yours,
LOUISA.

P. T. A. NEWS

The County Council met in the Ada Henderson auditorium, Saturday morning. Mrs. Guido Gersbach presided over the meeting, as she is the president of it. The invocation was given by Rev. J. Coy Williams, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The P. T. A. Units gave their reports next. Then Mrs. E. H. Becker of Brenham who is president of the Ninth District, gave a talk on "Community Needs." Luncheon was then served in the cafeteria. The luncheon consisted of covered dishes which were donated. After luncheon Mrs. Hausenfluck of George town, chairman of the Mother Singers, led the assembly in song and later talked on "The Help and Need of Music in Life and all Organizations." Mrs. Ray Levy of Chilton who is the first vice-president of this district, used the subject, "Health, Happiness, and Usefulness in a Child," in her speech. She told also of a prize to be given to the grammar school which has the best display in handicraft and art. This prize is to be presented by officers of the Parent-Teachers' Association in the Ninth District. This display is to be taken to the District Conference which meets at Waco in April. We surely think our school will capture the prize.

LITTLE BUTTERFLY

Norma Jean

Dear little butterfly
With your wings so shining bright,
Where do you go each lonely night?
You have such a sunny smile,
Always when I watch you each little while.
All the birds and beasts that go by,
Are none as sweet as you, my butterfly.
When spring comes out from its three months' sleep,
And all the birds go "cheep, cheep,"
I put my arm on the window sill,
And see you feeding on the daffodils.

LOVELY LEAVES

Albert Edmonds

In autumn time the leaves all fall
And lie on the ground, one and all,
They are so lovely and so red
Like those that are in stories read.
In summer the leaves are large and green,
And add to the beauty of the scene.
Ah, how beautiful these can be
That every one does look and see.
These are the works of nature strong
That always does her work right, not wrong;
She put them there for us to see
And makes them lovely as can be.

A BARGAIN

An old man who used to reside in our community prided himself on being able to drive the best of bargains. An uncle of mine decided to get the better of him for once at least. It was decided that they should trade horses on the next market day sight unseen. My uncle got busy and found a way to trick his boastful friend.

When the day came that they should trade, the old man led the poorest, leanest horse I have ever seen, and with a sway back. Everyone laughed long and loud at my uncle, thinking that once again the old man had done best on his trade, but when my uncle presented a saw-horse the laughs were all directed at the old bargain man, who had to admit that this was one time he failed to strike a bargain.

—NELL VAUGHAN.

A FRIEND IN NEED

There is a very true saying that "A friend in need is a friend in deed." This is one of the truest statements ever made. A friend is a person who comes to you in time of need and doesn't desert you. For example, when you are sick and have no one to help you, the ones who come to you are your friends. Or, if you are out of a job and have no one to cheer you, the person who comes to you with a cheery smile is your friend. The last example, and best of all is the Good Samaritan. A man was at-

Sand should be mixed with the rich dirt in the cutting bed. This is to provide more warmth in the bed. The soil in the hot bed may be leaf mold or barnyard manure covered with a thin layer of top soil. Then the seeds are covered with a thin layer of top soil. These points and other useful things were learned by members present. The next meeting will be January 16, at the Friendship school house.

Thomas Blinka

Thomas Blinka was born on August 17, 1867 in Austria, now known as the Czecho-Slovakian empire, the son of pioneer parents. He died suddenly on Friday afternoon, December 28, 1934 at Buckholts, and was at the time of his death 67 years and three months of age.

He came to Texas as did many of the sturdy pioneers who cast their lot with the new country, when seven years of age. In his life was much of the rich experience of these men who gave their strength of character and enterprise to the progress of their day and generation.

As a young man, Mr. Blinka spent his years in close application to duty. Early in life he entered the business world, first a clerk in a grocery business at Austin. There he married Miss Eva Burtis who survives him. In 1893 they moved to Buckholts and Mr. Blinka some 40 years ago entered the mercantile business in Buckholts and continued until his death active both as a citizen and business man.

In recent months he had not enjoyed perfect health. His death came suddenly at the close of the old year as he walked from his store to cross the street in Buckholts.

During the more than 40 years he lived in Milam county, Mr. Blinka met every responsibility as a citizen. Not only was he a success in business but in his relations with his fellowmen he endeared himself to many by reason of his excellent character and willingness to serve others. Men found in him a neighbor who never faltered in the exercise of courtesy and helpfulness. To his family he was an inspiration and with them is a rich heritage of years of comforting counsel and tender care. A man of hospitable inclinations he drew about him hundreds to claim as friends.

In his chosen city of Buckholts he played the part of builder and his business life resulted in beneficial associations with all men. In the hours when the body of the pioneer lay in the home that radiated his gracious personality, many gathered to pay their homage.

Mr. and Mrs. Blinka lived in comfort with friends and neighbors to bless their advancing years. No children were born to them, but a niece, Tricie Burtis who is now Mrs. E. B. Hyer was reared in their home and given the loving care of a daughter.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon December 30, 1934 at the Bohemian-Lutheran church in Buckholts with Rev. F. J. Horak, assisted by Rev. J. R. Vilt of Needville, Rev. D. S. Burke, pastor of Buckholts Methodist church, Rev. Cervin of Taylor and Rev. W. P. Elliott, conducting the services. Mr. Blinka was a member of the Presbyterian church but found worship in the Bohemian-Lutheran church of Buckholts.

He was a member of the S. P. J. S. T. lodge and a Mason. San Andres lodge in Cameron convened in the afternoon and at the grave in Oak Hill Cemetery took charge of the body and conducted the services. In the fading light of late afternoon the body of the pioneer, neighbor and friend, was laid to rest with tender devotion, with many attending the funeral.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eva Blinka, niece, Mrs. E. B. Hyer, and grand-niece, Maxine Hyer and E. B. Hyer; one sister, Mrs. Tom Mitcham of Caldwell.

Active pall bearers: Ernest Fuchs, Jr., J. R. Slovacek, Jim Petrucey, Joe Vajdak, Frank Svetlik, Ed Kolba, Alfred Walschak, Will Kuzel.

Father O'Sullivan Speaks at Rosebud High School Tuesday

Speaking Tuesday morning before the student body of Rosebud High School Father O'Sullivan of Saint Michael's Church, Burlington, said in part when discussing the life of Christ from the age of twelve until the beginning of His public life: "The story of the life of Christ during this period is condensed into the words: 'He was subject to them.' That life was spent in the quiet obscurity of a humble home in Nazareth, for the purpose of laying deep the foundation of that school where men might learn to sanctify themselves, the school of the Christian home."

Father O'Sullivan propounded the question as to whether Christ, if He should come back to this earth, would He feel at home in some of our homes today. Poverty and want would not embarrass Him. He was accustomed to them in Nazareth. But quarrelling, contention, silliness would disconcert Him. Brooding, nagging, gossiping and impatience would repel Him. Indecency would rile Him. Irreligion, Godlessness and lustful childlessness would horrify Him. Thanks be to God there are in the American nation millions of homes of every religious belief to which Jesus might be invited to spend the week end without embarrassment either to Jesus or the members of the family. It is in these homes that we find assurance for the perpetuity of the American Republic."

Father O'Sullivan in his address also quoted a statement recently made by Richard Washburn Child, United States Ambassador to Italy: "Today," the Ambassador said, "many of our colleges are squirming with un-American movements coming from planted nests of green young Communists and flossy professors with a thousand ideas for destruction of capital, destruction of ideals, destruction of religion."

Mrs. Earl Burke and small son, Richard, accompanied by Mrs. Lottie Bigbee, spent Tuesday in Marlin visiting Mrs. Coolley.

CONSTIPATION Can be Helped!

(Use what Doctors do)

Why do the bowels usually move regularly and thoroughly, long after a physician has given you treatment for constipation?

Because the doctor gives a liquid laxative that can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit—even in children. Your druggist has it; ask for—
